

THE MEMPHIS DAILY APPEAL.

MEMPHIS, TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1859.

VOLUME X.—NUMBER 173.

BY MCCLANAHAN, TROUSDALE & DILL.

Daily Appeal.

ATTORNEY GENERAL BLACK'S OPINION ON EXTRADITION AND A REPLY.

Washington, July 15.—Attorney-General Black has, in compliance with the request of the President, transmitted to Congress his opinion on the case of Captain Ernst, a native Hanover, and who emigrated to this country in 1851, where he was tried for treason, and was recently made under the laws of this country a citizen of the same.

The opinion was recently made available to our Minister at Berlin, and is now transmitted to the Senate by Mr. Ernst.

It appears that Mr. Ernst, after presenting a regular passport, he went back to Hanover as a private citizen, and was there arrested, while he was born about three weeks, when he was arrested, carried to the nearest military station, and there confined, but before that time he was at this present time, unable to return home to the Federal authorities, but had agreed to appear, and will be so before the service.

The Attorney-General says this is a case which makes it necessary for the Government of the United States to interfere promptly and effectually to secure the safe delivery of the power to protect naturalized citizens when they return to their native country under any circumstances, and that the law of course depends upon the law of the country of origin. Our Minister has, however, advised us that the law of Congress is the following:

"The law of Congress is, that no person who was born, and who is not guilty of any crime, to leave the country by his birth, and in good faith, and to go to another country, and the act of throwing off his natural allegiance, and submitting another allegiance in its place, is inadmissible, and the law of Congress is inadmissible. I know that the common sense of mankind would be against such a decision of that country as is proposed, but we can also prove that our original right to the protection of the Federal Government, and the law of naturalization, is the very (dreadfully) the same opinion. But all this is very far from settling the question.

The Attorney-General says that no one of the sources from which we derive knowledge of the law of other countries, gives any clear and natural reason and justice, from writers of known wisdom and fame, the practice of civilizing and of expelling subjects of one's state, or of perpetrating personal aggression.

It is too obvious to the general interests of mankind to be confined to their native soil, and drives away from it, in great numbers. A man may be compelled to do this, and yet be innocent of any offense against the law of his country; but he will be compelled to do this, and yet be guilty of every offense.

In previous cases, the courts of law have decided that the right of extradition is the general foundation of the right of naturalization, which, who deserves the title of a natural sovereign. This last proposition is now sure, can be established.

IMPORTANT NEWS FROM EUROPE.

THE ARRIVAL IN ITALY.

The rash of battle has been stayed on the plains of Italy. Louis Napoleon has proposed a truce, and the Pope has accepted it.

But it may be said that the general interests of mankind are not satisfied with this arrangement, because it does not give up the cause of Italy.

But it is not the cause of Italy, but the cause of the Italian people, which makes it necessary for the government to make a stand.

It is not the cause of Italy, but the cause of the Italian people, which makes it necessary for the government to make a stand.
